

Phone Volunteer Information Sheet

for

Pacific Wildlife Care Wildlife Humane Eviction and Exclusion Program

Pacific Wildlife Care is now providing a humane wildlife eviction and exclusion service. This service provides humane evictions and exclusions from any human structures – dwellings, garages, storage and utility units, barns and some fish ponds.

For a donation of $50, Pacific Wildlife Care will arrange to send a wildlife expert to the site to inspect it and make recommendations to humanely evict and exclude them.

For a donation of $100 the Pacific Wildlife Care wildlife expert will humanely evict any wildlife if possible and provide simple exclusion remedies like screening and boarding openings. All materials and labor are included in the donation. Other remedies such as climbing barriers, fencing, pond screening, electric barriers and tree limbing will be billed separately for labor and materials required.

Pacific Wildlife Care will not trap and/or physically remove wildlife. All structural demolition and repairs will be made by the property owner or their building contractor.

Our wildlife experts are knowledgeable about the ecology and habits of common nuisance animals such as raccoons, skunks, opossums, bats and squirrels. We also have other wildlife animal specialists who are knowledgeable about woodpeckers, swallows, bobcats, foxes, and deer exclusion treatments.

If injured or orphaned wildlife animals are discovered during an inspection, they will be transported to our Rehabilitation Center in Morro Bay. This is an all volunteer service and all donations will be used by Pacific Wildlife Care to provide food, medicine and veterinary care for the many animals that are rehabilitated at the Center.

 Please obtain the caller's name, contact information and a brief description of the problem and email the information to:

Ken Highfill - solarken@att.net 805-235-4295